

A diagram showing a horizontal container with a light blue background and a black border. Inside the container, there are three sections. The first section on the left is a white rectangle with a red border containing the text 'test'. The second section in the middle is a white rectangle with a red border containing the text 'main'. The third section on the right is a light blue area containing the text 'src'.

test

main

src